So let's try taking this thing up a notch, eh?

Shard is meant to push forward a little from the straight trivia of previous efforts.

Comments welcome at trvose@hotmail.com.

CC-BY-NC

The more money a person points up, the less they're actually worth.

Thomas Vose 7/23/22

Smiling, even if you're doing it can trick your brain into releasing chemicals associated with happiness and reducing stress.

It also works to boost your immune system.

"always look on the bright side of life...

LITTLE JOE
BLACKBURN
KILLED 1871
From where he stood he saw the moon above the caliboose looking down in brilliant unconcern as all Hell was breaking loose hot take:

The cover of "Stairway to Heaven" on this 2

is better than Led Zeppelin's original.

In ancient Greece, a thrown apple was a symbol of love - if the recipient caught it, they supposedly accepted. Plucking fruit at someone you like is now, sadly, frowned upon.

↑ "Venus of Arles"

You Should Read

Kate Beaton. She has moved on to other things now, but this duology of collected comics is the best. Brilliant and utterly hilarious, especially for history/literature nerds like me.